

A Brother in Arms
Thomas "Bob" Podevin

Pour toi, P.A

Four and a half AM, you're falling from the edge
Through the atmosphere, you're flying away,
No one could expect, no one could protect you
From the shadow, from the end of your highway

Maybe it was your destiny, maybe it was your fate
Maybe it was just a dream, but now it's too late

But rockers never die, such a rocker never dies
Walking over a rainbow, you're looking at your friends
And your family, We will never forget you, because you were
A brother in arms

Heading to the paradise city, you see the lights
Coming from the future, coming from the past Carrying your memories, remember the faces of your life, all those things you've done

Maybe it was your destiny, maybe it was your fate
Maybe it was just a dream, but now it's too late

But jedies never die, such a jedi never dies
Walking over a rainbow, you're looking at your friends
And your family, We will never forget you, because you were
A brother in arms

Thinking of the future, thinking of the past
Don't be afraid, don't throw your life away
He's somewhere between us, somewhere in the air, so stop crying, he's laughing, and laughing, and laughing, and laughing

Maybe it was his destiny, maybe it was his fate
Maybe it was just a dream, but it's not too late

But good men never die, such a good lad never dies
Walking over a rainbow, he's looking at us
Family and friends, We will never forget him, because he were
A brother in arms
